

AMY MCMICHAEL

PERFECT MATCH

Secure Your Residency Spot & Achieve Greatness in Dermatology

CLICK HERE for Book Info, Media Page, and Headshots

Bio

Amy McMichael, MD, is an academic dermatologist who loves the intersection of mentoring and encouraging learners of color to strive for success in medicine.

She spends her workdays seeing patients, performing research, and teaching, and her free time with her family and friends. She loves to travel for work or play and can be found reading a new book each week and thinking about new projects focused on alopecia research.

Relevant Speaking Topics

- Why did you write this book for medical students
- What makes dermatology so difficult and competitive to get into?
- Why is mentorship for medical students so important?
- How does residency help to form careers for medical students
- What are some good behaviors for students and mentors?
- How is applying to dermatology different from other medical programs?
- What role does diversity have in recent applications, and how has it changed in the last 10 years?
- What kind of resident programs and opportunities are there for students of color to get involved in dermatology
- What organizations promote diversity in dermatology?

More Fun Facts and Stats

Fun Facts:

- Two fabulous children and a husband
- Love to vacation on the beach of North Carolina, where we have a home.
- We love to travel, taking three international trips a year.
- Dedicated friends with my husband
- Love to exercise, even though I don't do as often as I would like
- Love spending time with our cute dog named Murphy

Stats:

- 31 years as an academic dermatologist at Wake Forest
- 12 years as program director
- 11 years as chair of the department.
- Editorial board of six journals of dermatology

Honors and awards

- Winner of Medical Dermatology Society 22 life Lifetime Achievement.
- Medical Dermatology Society: 2022 Lifetime Achievement Award
- 2023 Rose Hirschler, MD Award Women's Dermatological Society
- 2023 John Kenney Jr., MD Lifetime Achievement Award and Lectureship American Academy of Dermatology
- 2023 James Edwin Byrum, Jr. Distinguished Faculty Mentoring Award
- Wake Forest University School of Medicine

NOW AVAILABLE ON AMAZON

CONTACT
amcmicha@icloud.com

MANDALA
TREE PRESS